

THE ASTOR ROOM

FOOD • MUSIC • BAR

The Astor Room was originally built as the commissary to the studio opened by the legendary Adolph Zukor in 1920. The studio soon became home for Paramount Pictures, and during the next 20 years, over 120 silent and sound films were produced here. From Rudolph Valentino, Gloria Swanson, the Marx Brothers, the Gish sisters and W.C. Fields, Astoria was home to the great talents of an exciting new industry and they all dined right here, in The Astor Room!

Take a step back in time in our new restaurant, that celebrates the glory of a bygone era in American and cinematic history. The Astor Room is our contemporary interpretation of the bygone American Supper Club where classic dishes, master-crafted cocktails, superb service, warm hospitality and fabulous entertainment combine to offer a truly unique dining experience.
